

Nationwide Screening is pleased to announce that it has partnered with RPS Associates, LLC, in order to expand and more effectively serve your interests with project-based human resource consulting services. As Chief Human Resource Officer of Fortune 500 companies, Randy P. Smith brings with him over 25 years of a high-powered consulting background.

Substance abuse testing generates hard dollars back into your business. It is instrumental in affecting turnover and workforce management, employee qualifications, staff size and crewing, accident frequency, severity and worker's compensation rates, benefit expense, training and orientation programs, learning and productivity curves and so much more.

Randy P. Smith would like to offer a free evaluation your current platform and provide supplements to your substance abuse program to achieve a higher return on your investment.
